

Collaborative Writing in the Context of Science 2.0

Kaja Scheliga

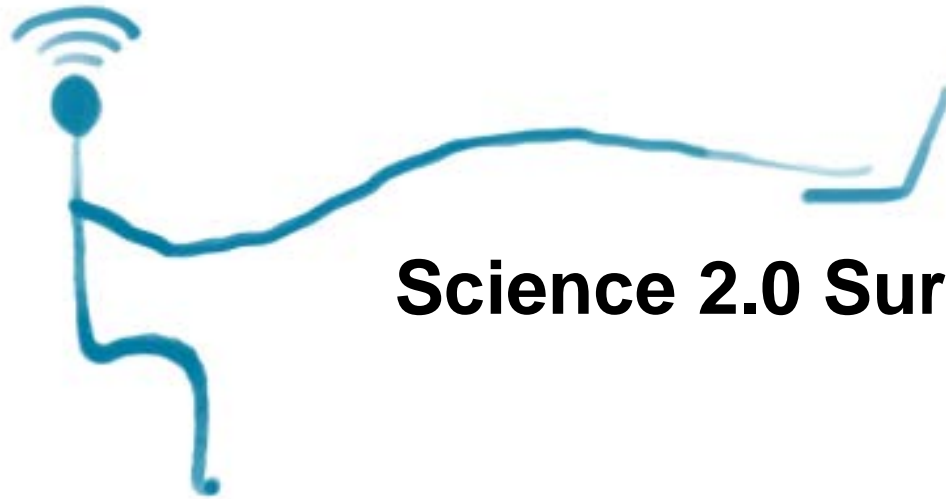

i-KNOW '15, October 21 - 22, 2015, Graz, Austria

Kaja.scheliga@hiig.de

Alexander von Humboldt Institute for Internet and Society, Berlin, Germany

@kajasche

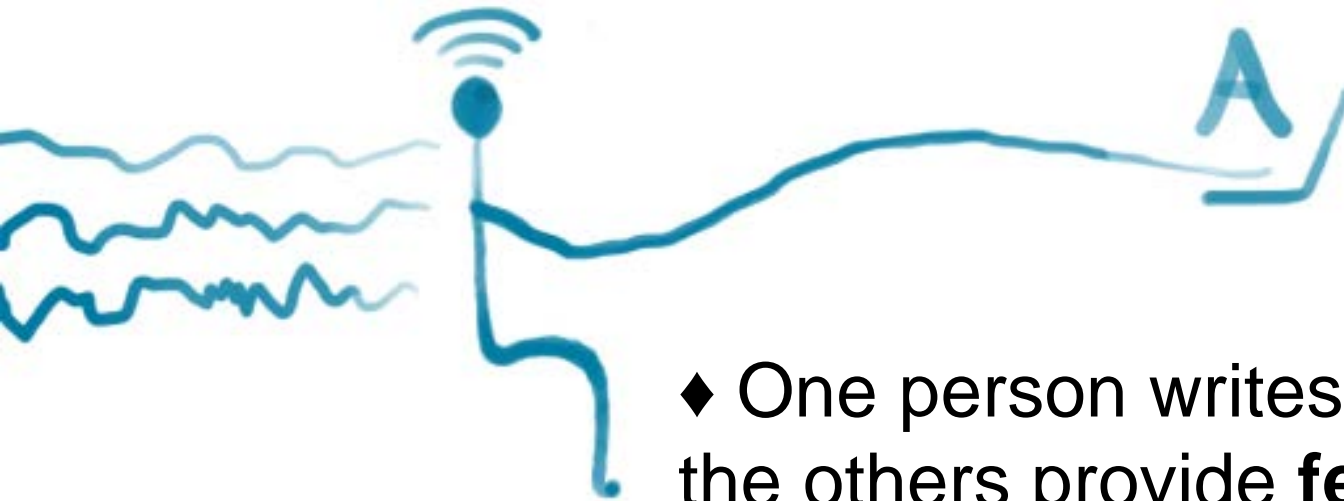

Science 2.0 Survey

Pscheida, D., Minet, C., Herbst, S., Albrecht, S., Köhler, T. Science 2.0 Survey 2014. Nutzung von Social Media und onlinebasierten Anwendungen in der Wissenschaft. Ergebnisse des Science 2.0-Survey 2014. Datenreport Hochschulen 2014.

<http://nbn-resolving.de/urn:nbn:de:bsz:14-qucosa-163135>

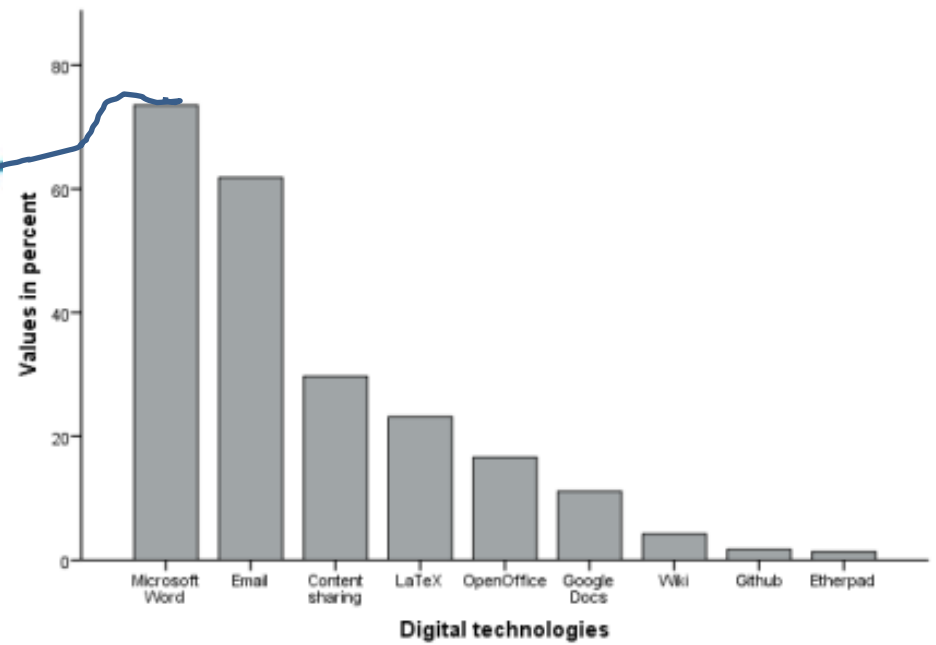

Writing Strategies

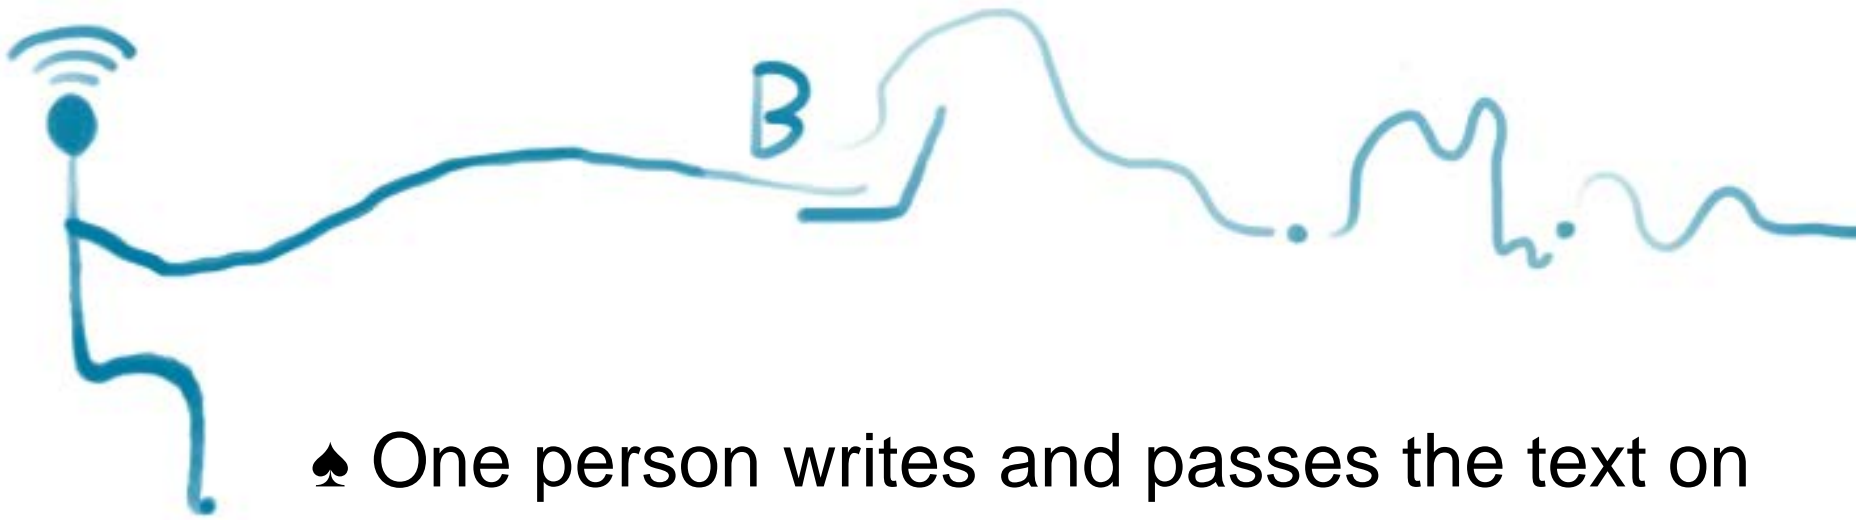

- ◆ One person writes; the others provide feedback. (A)

Usage of digital technologies for writing strategy A

Writing Strategies

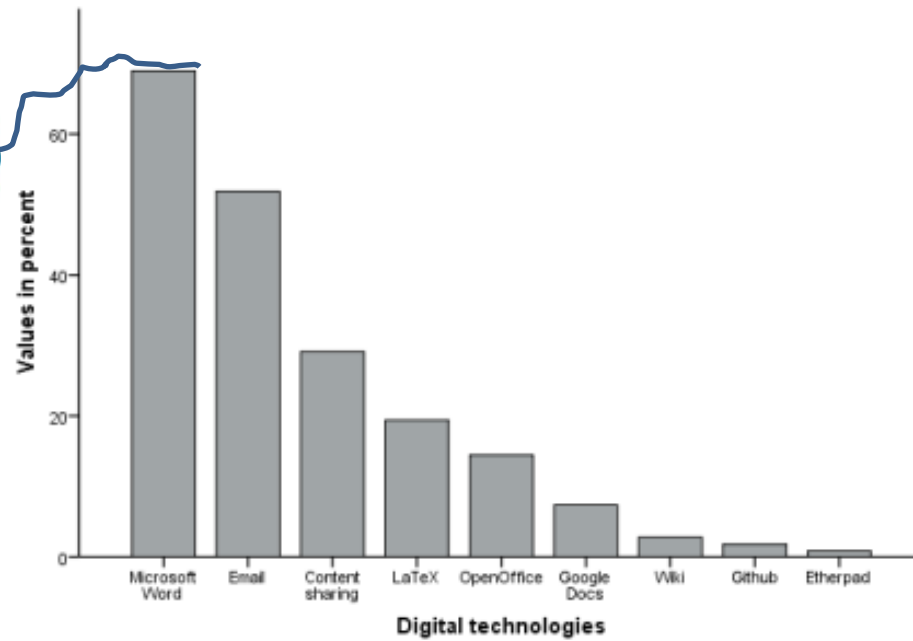

♠ One person writes and passes the text on to the next person.

Writing happens in sequence. (B)

Usage of digital technologies for writing strategy B

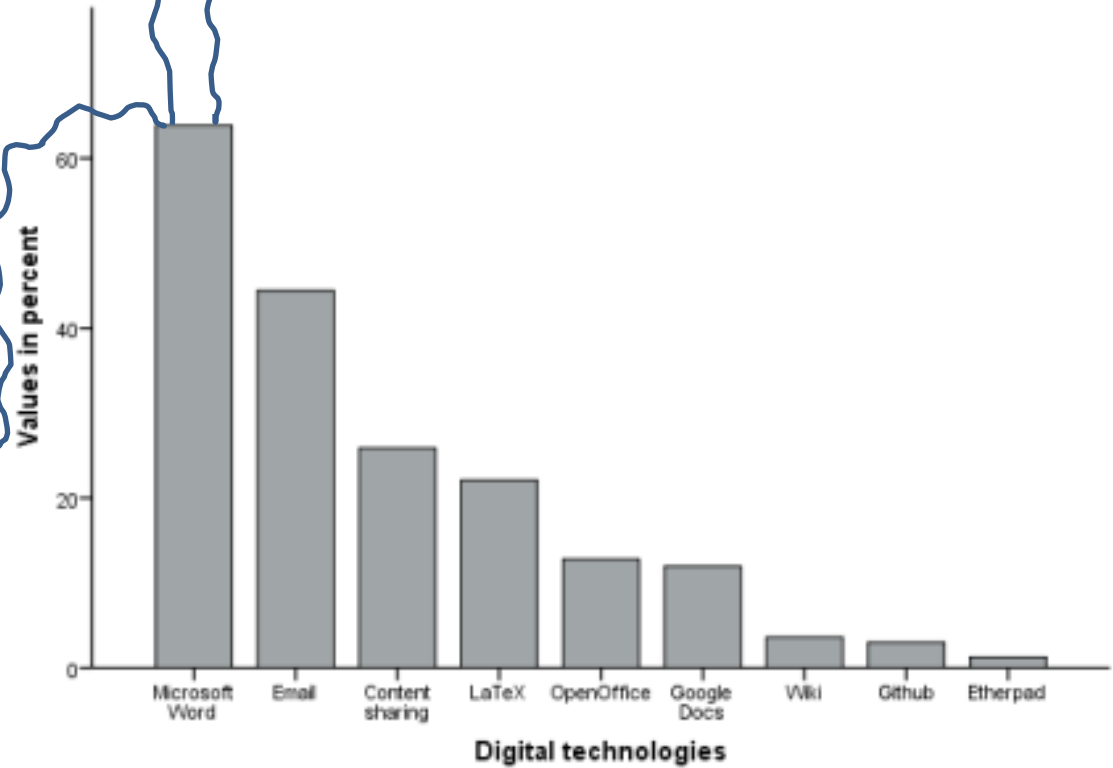

Writing Strategies

- ♣ Each co-author is responsible for a section of the document. Writing happens in parallel. (C)

Usage of digital technologies for writing strategy C

Writing Strategies

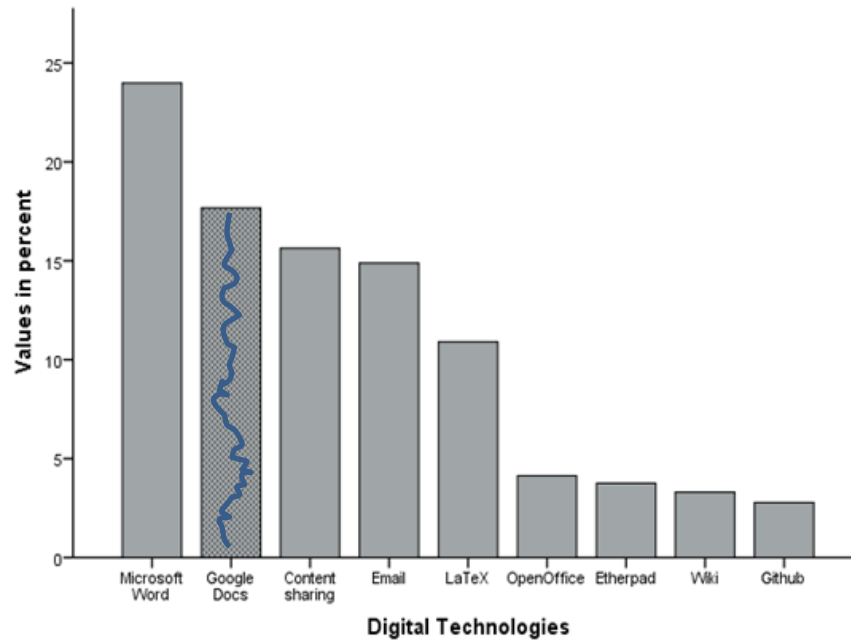

♥ Each co-author writes in the same shared document, reacting to what has already been written.

Writing can happen simultaneously. (D)

Usage of digital technologies for writing strategy D

Writing strategy combinations based on usage of digital technologies

Attitudes towards digital technologies for collaborative writing

